HIT IT OUT OF THE PARK

As the president of FAMOHIO and a baseball enthusiastic, I am doubly happy to welcome you to FAMOHIO 2017! We are going to “hit it out of the park” this weekend and score big! The “team” of our founding fathers created FAMOHIO to educate and ensure positive outcomes for all affected with bleeding disorders. The original team’s mission was boundless yet in size the first meeting was like a Pee Wee game. Over the years, we have moved forward, grown in size and purpose and I can now say “we are winning the World Series!”

So, with this positive momentum in place, I challenge each and every one of you to think about and decide what your “it” is. Your “it” you might ask? What is he saying? Let me explain. “Hit it out of the ball park” is our theme. Decide what “it” you are going to “hit out of the park.” Will “it” be learning more about genetics or advocacy? Will “it” be a commitment to listen more carefully to the presenters and vow to take their message home and incorporate change in your day to day living? Will “it” be welcoming new friends and connecting with old friends to further the bond between blood brothers and sisters?

Last year we introduced the “Celebration Room.” Stop by and enjoy the many accomplishments and former and current participants of FAMOHIO shown through pictures and media. FAMOHIO has had a great run (home run that is)!

I wish to thank the generous vendors for their financial and educational support. Promise me you all will stop by and personally thank them and discuss their products and services. Keep in mind, FAMOHIO would not happen without financial assistance.

I would be remiss if I did not thank the hotel staff who works extremely hard to meet our needs. Many staff members work extra hours just to make our stay as pleasant as possible. Please be on your best behavior during our stay at the Northwest Marriott and give a nod of thanks to the staff.

In addition, I would like to thank the board and planning committee of FAMOHIO. It is impossible to tally the number of hours donated by these two committees to plan and execute this weekend. The board and planning teams are committed to each and every one who attends FAMOHIO.

Let’s “hit it out of the park!” Go team go! Did I mention the Toledo Mud Hens?

Sincerely,

Josh Crossgrove

Basics of Bleeding Disorders: What You Need to Know!

By Laura-Jean Siggins, MSN, RN Dublin IV

What does this mean "bleeding disorder?" Is it contagious? Can one lead a normal life? Do I need to bubble wrap my child? Can I let them play like other kids? Will I always feel scared? Can I leave them with a sitter? Can I let them go to school unattended? What do I do in an emergency? Oh my! Now I have a diagnosis, but what does all this mean? Let us help you understand what to do and where to go from here. You can do this!

Laura-Jean has been a pediatric nurse in hematology for over 27 years. She graduated with a Bachelor of Science of Nursing degree from the University of Michigan, School of Nursing in 1995. She furthered her education by obtaining a Master's Degree in Nursing from the University of Phoenix. For the last 15 years Laura-Jean has enjoyed working at the Hemophilia Treatment Center in Ann Arbor.

Laura-Jean describes her nursing passion as "I love to teach patients, families, and staff." She particularly likes helping families and patients conquer the fear of accessing their child's or their own ports and doing infusions. She incorporates therapeutic and distraction therapies to assist with difficult infusions and is qualified to teach these beneficial techniques to others.

COURSE INFO & SPEAKER BIOS

Laura-Jean is active with the local hemophilia foundation working with the girls' clinic and women's group. She works tirelessly each year at Camp Bold Eagle. Laura-Jean has presented locally, regionally, and on a national level.

Von Willebrand Disease

By Laura-Jean Siggins, MSN, RN, CPN, CPST Dublin II

Wow, disease? Von Willebrand Disease sounds so ominous! What does this mean? What should I do? Should I keep my child at home? Should I call in the troops? Ride a bike, pad the bed, so many questions are running through my head. Help! What is a platelet and what does it mean to be dysfunctional?

Come and let us help you understand all this strange terminology. We will break down the words so they make sense.

See bio under Basics of Bleeding Disorders.

Hemophilia is a Genetic Disorder – sponsored by Shire

By Trish Underland, PNP Dublin III

Hemophilia is usually passed down through families. In this program, you'll learn how genetics influences the chances of inheriting hemophilia or having a child with this disorder.

Trish earned her undergraduate nursing degree at the University of Virginia and Master of Science degree from the University of Maryland and is a board certified Pediatric Nurse practitioner. Trish has over 30 years of hospital based nursing experience at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore MD. She has worked in a variety of settings that included inpatient pediatrics, pediatric emergency room and as the nurse coordinator for the Hemophilia Treatment Center (HTC).

While at the HTC (for 14 years), Trish enjoyed working with families where multigenerational family members could be affected with the same bleeding disorder. She found that the family dynamics in these situations could often be challenging but more often than not the understanding between family members provided a support system that was not only unique but truly inspiring.

COURSE INFO & SPEAKER BIOS

Trish is passionate about patient education. She has found that helping patients understand and manage chronic illnesses, particularly in the setting of a new diagnosis, is one of the most rewarding aspects of the nursing role. Currently, Trish is a senior clinical specialist with Shire.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 5TH

Afternoon Session: Plenary

He is also program director for the National Hemophilia Foundation's Clinical Fellowship Training Program.

Dr. Gruppo has published over 70 peer-reviewed manuscripts, invited reviews, and textbook chapters. He has served on the board of directors for numerous hemophilia advisory committees. Dr. Gruppo's research interests are hemophilia, particularly prophylaxis and immune tolerance of inhibitors, and on the etiology, diagnosis and treatment of thrombotic diseases in children.

ADDITIONAL SPEAKERS

MATT OLOVICH

Matt Olovich is a recent graduate of Guerin Catholic high school in Noblesville, Indiana. Matt graduated with academic honors and as an Honor Society member. Matt was a 4-year starter and letterman for Guerin High School in baseball and set school records for the most hits, doubles and triples in his career. Matt was voted by opposing coaches as First Team All Conference and was named an Academic All-State baseball player. Matt will continue his baseball career at Franklin College in Indiana where he will study biology and physical therapy.

Matt is a severe Hemophilia A patient and has used prophylaxis all his life. Rather than be upset about the things you cannot do because of hemophilia, Matt believes it is better to focus on what you can do and make the most of those opportunities.

ELEC SIMON

Elec Simon was born with rhythm in his soul. Every object was an instrument waiting to be played. Every instrument had a song waiting to be heard. Elec was the conductor of his surroundings.

After graduating from high school, Elec took his thirst for music to New York. He wasn't interested in joining the ranks of students in schools like Juilliard, or the Berklee College of Music; he wanted to explore music from the ground up, to discover the roots that moved him as a child.

ADDITIONAL SPEAKERS

There, on the streets and subway platforms of New York City he began to find the rhythm that would define his life. He would busk alongside many of the great street performers of our generation such as Larry Wright and William Johnson. Those moments were the springboard for what was to come – a starring role in the touring production of STOMP. Elec spent over a decade with STOMP, touring across the country, experiencing life as a stage performer in one of the world's best received shows, but even that experience wasn't enough to feed his hunger for music.

After his time with STOMP, Elec decided to return back to his home in Canton, Ohio where he felt the need to give back to his community. Dear to his heart was the subject of anti-bullying. As a child, Elec had lost a friend to bullying. He realized he could use his music to make a change and began performing in schools where his mix of from-the-streets wisdom and stage experience allowed him to connect with the children in front of him.

He doesn't just stand there and lecture them – he puts the music directly in their hands. Every Elec Simon assembly includes a full band, a huge line of buckets for the kids to play along with, and Elec's positive, high-energy message about tolerance, love and understanding.

If Elec looks familiar to you, that's for good reason. Not only has he been featured on the stage with STOMP and major news outlets who cover his message, he can also be seen playing with the Cleveland Cavalier's Q-Stix, who play every Cav's home game. They were also invited to play during the NBA 2016 All-Star weekend in Toronto, Canada.

Elec Simon has made it his life's mission to spread his brand of music. It's a rhythm based off of nature's oldest drum; the heart, and it's from the heart that his message flows – teach our children to love one another and the world will grow up with them to be a better place.
